“With a holistic passion of the built environment supported by my education, and experience of the construction, architecture, and real estate industries, I am confident that I add value to project execution in alignment with the high-profile Flaherty & Collins Properties design expectations.”

RESPONSIBILITIES

Derek acts as the main point of contact at Flaherty & Collins Properties between the internal construction and development team, and all project-related consultants to reinforce project execution to meet and exceed F&C Design Standards.

EDUCATION

Master of Architecture
Ball State University – Muncie, IN

Bachelor of Construction Management
IUPUI – Indianapolis, IN

ACCREDITATIONS

Indiana Licensed Real Estate Broker
RB14045300

PERSONAL

Derek enjoys hiking, cycling, and being active in the Indianapolis social scene.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Upon graduation with his Master of Architecture degree from Ball State University in 2013, and obtaining his real estate license soon thereafter, Derek’s interests in the built environment were more specified to the multi-family development market. Having worked on various capacities in the design of multifamily developments, Derek has the proven experience necessary for the complexities of project delivery.
